FRENCH FORCES LOSING GROUND

German Armies Are Closing in on Verdun.

BATTLE REMAINS UNDECIDED

Berlin Announces Further Gains and Declares French Counter Attacks to Regain Lost Positions Were Repulsed With Heavy Casualties.

London, May 26.—The tide is again with the Germans in the fighting about Verdun.

The headquarters report from Berlin announces a further closing in by the crown prince's troops east of the Meuse, and the failure of the French to regain by desperate counter attacks the village of Cumieres.

The situation around Fort Douaumont, where fighting of unprecedented violence has been in progress, is in dispute.

Paris concedes the recapture of the fort by the Germans, but the latter, who never have admitted that the French had penetrated the fort, announce the capture of French trenches southeast and south of Fort Douaumont, indicating an advance by the line marked by the battered fortification.

In the Caillette wood, southeast of Fort Douaumont, General Nivelle's forces have been attacking ceaselessly, but according to the German account have gained no ground and have lost heavily, the Germans in addition capturing more than 850 men and fourteen machine guns.

KING GEORGE SIGNS ARMY SERVICE BILL

London, May 26.—The signature of King George was fixed to the military service bill, recently passed by parliament.

"Having acted on the advice of my ministers, I deem it necessary to enroll every able-bodied man between the ages of eighteen and forty-one.

"I desire to take this opportunity of expressing to my people my recognition and appreciation of the splendid patriotism and self-sacrifice they displayed in raising by voluntary enlistment since the beginning of the war no less than 5,041,000 men—an effort far surpassing that of any other nation in similar circumstances recorded in history and one which will be a lasting source of pride to future generations.

"I am confident the magnificent spirit which hitherto has sustained my people through the trials of this terrible war will inspire them, and that it will, with God's help, lead us and our allies to a victory which shall achieve the liberation of Europe."

WILD STEEDS ASKED; WILDER THE BETTER

Miles City, Mont., May 26.—Broncho busters and cowpunchers of the Montana range are on edge. Managers of the wild west and frontier celebration to be held in Miles City July 3, 4 and 5, are offering prizes to all persons who will bring to the celebration horses, steers or buffalo that will not submit to being ridden. The cowboys declare there is no such animal.

More than 500 cowboys of the Montana range will strive to maintain their prestige as the champion riders of the world. Secretary G. S. Otis has issued a statement in which the celebrated Powder river cowhands challenge the world to produce more daring and skillful riders.

The Miles City roundup is renowned for its magnitude and this year's show will break all records.

On July 5, the last day, Governors S. V. Stewart of Montana, J. A. A. Burnquist of Minnesota, L. B. Hanna of North Dakota and Kendrick of Wyoming will meet Chief Two Moons, leader of the Cheyenne Indians at the Custer massacre, and greet the Indian warrior on ground on which Custer camped twenty-four hours before the battle.

Berlin, May 26.—Field Marshal Alexander von Kluck, whose army was defeated at the battle of the Marne early in the war and who was wounded by shrapnel fire in March of last year, was seventy years old on Saturday. He received many congratulatory messages, one from Emperor William. His health has been restored, although one bullet has not yet been extracted, and he has again offered his services to the emperor.

LLOYD-GEORGE AIDS IN IRISH PROBLEM

London, May 26.—Once more in a crisis involving the British empire David Lloyd-George, minister of munitions, has stepped into the role of savior of his country. This time he has undertaken to solve a problem that has baffled Britain's keenest statesmen—to reconcile the apparently irreconcilable sections of Irish people and establish home rule in Ireland.

He has been engaged for some days in informal talks preparatory to a round table conference and it is expected that besides John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, and Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, the conference will include Herbert Samuel, the home secretary who had much to do with framing the finance clause of the home rule act. It is asserted the proceedings will be confidential.

In the parliamentary lobbies a feeling of optimism prevailed. The house of commons rarely has seen a demonstration of greater unity than was displayed when the leaders of all factions flocked to the standard of the prime minister in an effort to achieve a lasting settlement of the Irish question.

BREAD LINES GROW DAILY

Great Distitution in Belgium and Northern France.

New York, May 26.—Destitute people in Belgium and Northern France are living on one-third the amount of food necessary to maintain human life and more supplies are needed at once, says Casper Whitney, big game hunter and editor, who has been in charge of the work of the commission for relief in Belgium and the northern part of France since April, 1915.

Mr. Whitney has just returned from Europe.

The bread lines in the enemy occupied countries are increasing daily, he says, and the people's power of resistance is daily growing weaker. The relief commission had been compelled to increase its volunteer army to 40,000 workers.

The upper middle class is suffering most because of the high food prices and because the commission does not furnish food for it.

DEMANDS FARE, FINDS PASSENGER DEAD.

Decatur, Ill., May 26.—"Ticket, please," Conductor T. C. Broderick said as he leaned over a passenger on the Wabash Banner limited.

MANY KILLED AND CAPTURED

Series of Clashes Between Constitutional Forces and Raiders Results in Victory for Troops Operating to Restore Order.

Chihuahua City, May 26.—Constitutionalist forces under Colonel Fuertes have inflicted severe losses on bandits operating in Northern Zacatecas, General Jacinto Trevino was informed by General Domingo Arrieta in a message from Durango.

In a fight with one of these bands the Carranza forces routed the followers of Isabel Tover, killing twenty-three men and capturing ten men, including Colonel Juan Soto and Captain Jose Garcia, and eighty-six saddle horses.

The former Villa general, Gregorio Avila was among the bandits slain in a second fight. Later another Villa band, under Jesus Bollen, was dispersed, leaving behind ten prisoners.

Another report of routing of Villa troops came from General Jesus Novoa at San Pedro de las Colonias, who said he had killed ten men and captured some arms, horses and a number of dynamite bombs at Cerro Santiago. Novoa lost one man killed. The chief of police of San Pedro, who took part in the fight, was wounded.

PRIMARY VOTE CUTS DELEGATE CONTESTS

Chicago, May 26.—There will be fewer delegate seats contested in the Republican national convention which meets in the Coliseum on June 7 than in any national convention of the party in twenty years. With all the 985 delegates to the 1916 convention elected, with the exception of those from West Virginia, who will be chosen by direct primary June 6, only fifty-three contests have been filed with Secretary Reynolds of the Republican national committee.

Four years ago more than half of the delegate seats were in dispute. When the national committee meets June 1 to dispose of this year's contests it will expect to complete its work in three days.

"The adoption of the direct primary in the election of delegates to the national convention by a large number of states is responsible for the great decrease in the number of contests," says Secretary Reynolds.

SYMPHONY ON WEDNESDAY MAY 31

INFLUENCE OF MUSIC IS GOOD

Emotional Appeal of Music of Unsurpassed Value as Power Developing Agency

JULIUS WITHAM
Concertmeister of Symphony, a Talented Musician

Someone has said that "a musical instrument in a home, is next to the Bible and the mother's knee, the greatest civilizer." Most of us give little thought to the influence of music. Most of us, for that matter, fail to appreciate that music not only helps to civilize men, but also helps to give them improved health and greater power.

As an emotional appeal music is of unsurpassed value as a power developing agency. If only for its influence on the emotion, every child should be taught early in life to know and love music.

The greater the number of tones distinguishable by the human ear an individual is responsive to, the greater are the probabilities of his correctly perceiving and interpreting the world in which he lives.

The Symphony orchestra in Brainerd should and certainly is being encouraged in every way. The concert next Wednesday will have a good house—that is certain.

No outside soloist has been engaged for the last concert, three of Brainerd's most popular singers taking part. An endeavor is being made to make enough to cover the deficiency of its previous concert amounting to $69.

THE CHURCH ON TRIAL

Its Responsibility for Non-Church Goes Indifference to Religion

A frank examination of the church's responsibility for the non-church goes indifference to religion took place at St. Paul's Episcopal church last Sunday evening.

The churches have the following charges to face. Being completely out of touch with the masses. Failure to insist on spiritual and social equality. Ignoring the immediate and pressing needs of the masses. Indifferent and hostile to the wage earners movement toward social reform. The churches are guilty of alienating the masses through lack of sympathy.

Next Sunday evening a defense of the church will be put forward. Some misunderstandings cleared. The economic aspect of the non church going movement will be discussed. Reasons why the poor, the middle class and the rich do not attend church will be given. Causes ascribable to people will be suggested. Growth of materialism, absolute lack of spirituality.

And the question will be asked, "What relationship is there between the social consciousness of today and religion?" Is the social revolution of today really irreligious? Will not the results of social reform help the church in their mission. A hearty welcome to all is given.

THE CINQUE PORTS.

Their Wardenship in Wellington's Day Was a Great Honor.

Do you know what the Duke of Wellington regarded as the crowning honor of his life? It was not his conquest of Napoleon and the gift of a castle worth more than $1,000,000, which the British nation conferred on him in recognition of his services when his military genius had freed England of the deadly menace that could only be removed by the absolute crushing of the Little Corsican.

Instead, it was the position he occupied during a large part of the Napoleonic war period, not as field marshal, but as warden of the Cinque Ports. To be warden of the Cinque Ports was honor enough for any one man, but it was far from an empty honor, for it carried with it the most exacting responsibility.

The name is a left over from the period when England and France were closely bound together, when a goodly section of the mainland across the channel was ruled by the king and when countless French terms were in daily use in England. The Cinque Ports were Dover, Hythe, Hastings, Sandwich and Romney. Even after Winchester and Rye had been added they continued to be called the "Five Ports."

To the warden over these coast defense towns was given the task of protecting England from invasion, and as a result their population was composed very largely of marines, on whose hands time hung heavily during protracted peace. The result was that they broke the monotony by many a lively fight with the French marines across the channel. One of these resulted so seriously that England was forced to give up her fortresses on the French coast. Wellington died at the official warden's residence, Walmer Castle, Kent.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat

George R. Sheldon's Daughter to Marry

Vanderbilt. The Sands-Whitney ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride, 525 Park avenue. Whitney is a son of the late George Whitney of Boston. He is an enthusiastic follower of outdoor sports and is prominent in the Long Island colony. Mr. Whitney's brother, George Whitney, married Miss Martha Bacon, daughter of ex-ambassador to France, Robert Bacon, at Westbury, L. I., two years ago. He was graduated from Harvard in 1911 and is a member of the Knickerbocker and Racquet and Tennis clubs of this city and the Racquet club of Boston. The wedding will not be either large or elaborate, but rather simple.

Would Turn Parks Into Poultry Farm

(BY WILBUR S. FORREST)

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, May 10.—Give the hen a chance. With eggs at seven cents each, Mrs. Lionel Guest, daughter of the late John Bigelow, American Ambassador to Paris, is urging a plan here today to turn London's public parks into poultry farms. An enthusiast on poultry breeding, Mrs. Guest has started a crusade to give the hen a chance. She is telling the authorities that every public park should have its chicken farm with a woman expert in charge to show the public how to get the best out of biddy.

Green park and St. James' park, near Buckingham palace; Hyde park and other expanses of public greenward have been selected by the American woman as the best locations upon which to try the poultry experiments. Mrs. Guest declares she has proved her theories by successful poultry farming in Canada and emphasizes that British hens are equal to the task of providing sufficient eggs if enough people would become interested in hen culture. She has expressed her willingness to keep poultry within the yards of her own house near the fashionable Marble Arch district, police regulations permitting.

Sister Susie Wears Serpents on Her Dress

BY MARGARET MASON

(Written for the United Press)
In the olden days 'twas a wily snake Got the best of Mother Eve;
But the times have changed for that serpent bold

You may well indeed believe;
For down at her feet, on her dainty boots
And up in the air on her hat,
The modern Eve has the best of him now

And what do you think of that?
New York, May 26.—Don't be worried and sign the pledge hastily if you see snakes these days. They are being worn in the best of families and every fair charmer looks like a snake one since the latest fad of serpents has come to light. Just to turn the tables on the old snake for wearing Eve's nerves, her granddaughters are wearing him on their feet and heads. It surely is going back some to go back to the Garden of Eden for our fashions. We began by decking ourselves out in apples and now we are up to the snake. Let's hope we stop at that and don't revive the fig leaf for the summer months. At first glance these new high boots of grey kid appear to have tops of mottled silk, but a second glance confirms your sneaky, snakey suspicions. They are very stunning of course and when worn with a wide brimmed sailor hat with a crown of the same mottled skin the effect is not garish or bizarre, as you may at first suppose, but conservatively rich and original. Belts and pocketbooks also are shown in the snake skin.

The summer girl is very keen for beauty patches. Indeed, she seldom appears in a barefaced condition without a tiny black heart, diamond or dot enhancing the dimple in her cheek or the corner of one eye. However, beauty patches aren't the only patches on the 1916 beauty. Altogether, they may well be said to have gone to her head, for the very newest sport hat is a crazy affair made exactly like your grandmother's silk patchwork quilt. It is a soft, crush hat and the gayest scraps of silk are used in its hit or miss construction. They are set together with fancy long and short stitches, or feather stitching in a decidedly quiltish manner. Nuts on gold or tenns will feel very much at home in one of these new crazy patch headpieces and to designate a fair lady as crazy in the head will imply rather a degree of smartness than a stigma of addledness henceforth. Do you know how to crochet an edging on wash cloths and bath towels. If so, cease such superfluous embellishment and turn your knowledge to more wearing and wearable adornment. If you don't care for the crazy patch sport hats and still desire to be a smartly brimmed hat and a bank of yarn and then get busy with your crochet hook. Just imagine your hat as a wash cloth and edge it in a vivid shade of green, cerise, yellow or purple and you will have a simply stunning chaparral. If you are a versatile crocheter you can make a hectic yarn flower with a leaf or two to put on the front of the crown and you will find that you have hooked the most attractive sport hat of the season with your little crochet hook. This is a true little yarn.

Taffeta Skirts that Speak of days gone by

You will readily recognize in the Spring skirt styles, especially the silks, the dainty charm of Fashions of long ago.

The flowing lines are suggestive of the courtly minuet but, of course, there is the note of the new you will always find here.

This modern touch may be ever so slight, but it is there. The tailoring, of course, is vastly improved over the old days.

Cloth skirts in handsome Poplins and Serges, Gabardines, black and whites, and other checks which have the distinction of a touch of color. Some of these checks reveal a dainty shading of green, others stand out in rookie brown.

There's hardly any place to which you cannot wear your taffeta skirt, and just now we invite your inspection, particularly because stocks are so new and complete.

A SUFFRAGE TRIP

Two Ardent "Gists" Set Out Across the Continent.

WILL TOOL THEIR OWN CAR.

Armed Against Mosquitoes, Rattlesnakes, Mexicans and Hunger, Two Adventurous Women Start For California With a Small Auto.

No women have ever before made the trip just started by Mrs. Alice Snitjer Burke and Miss Nell Richardson of New York city. On April 6 they left Columbus Circle and were escorted to the Forty-second street ferry on their first lap to Trenton, N. J., by hosts of suffragists in automobiles. Before they see New York city again these women will have made a trip of 15,000 miles in a little car, so light it can be pushed about by hand. En route they will traverse twenty-five states, among them four on the Mexican border.

How to provide against mosquitoes in Jersey and rattlesnakes and Gila monsters in Arizona, hostile Mexicans on the Texas frontier and hunger everywhere will be among the problems of these errant ladies, who fear nothing at all, not even punctures.

Miss Richardson, who was born in Virginia and hails from Maryland, says she will solve the hunger problem by carrying a fireless cooker on the running board, and Mrs. Burke says she fears no accident, for she can put on her own tires and that without "getting myself dirty. I don't have to crawl out from under a car as black as my hat," she states.

She certainly looks immaculate enough in the picture. At the end of every day's long run there will be a suffrage speech given "somewhere in America" for the National Woman Suffrage association, and the occasions at which these will occur will take in all possible social groups and a variety of locations. The compact compartments of the suffrage car, in which the women are advised to carry "an ax for cutting firewood, a shovel to dig themselves out of mudholes, a pistol against rattlesnakes and a rope to tow some other unfortunate," will also carry evening and afternoon gowns for the speakers.

Mrs. Burke is a western woman, whose first husband, Captain Armstrong, was one of Roosevelt's "rough riders" in the Cuban war. She has a daughter, who was the center of a little story which Colonel Roosevelt called "the prettiest incident of his western trip" when he was in California during his presidency. At Captain Armstrong's death Mr. Roosevelt

STATE GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES AND THEIR HISTORICAL SIGNIFICANCE

(Prepared by the Minnesota Historical Society for the United Press)

Mille Lacs County
The lake known as Mille Lacs from which this county takes its name, was called Moskakan or Spirit lake by the Dakota Indians who occupied the region when the first French explorers appeared in Minnesota. Later the Dakotas were driven out by the Chippewas, who called the lake and surrounding country Minisigagoon. This word has been translated as "all sorts of lakes" or "great lakes." The later French name of Mille Lacs, Thousand Lakes, applied both to the lake and the region was probably intended as a translation of the Chippewa name, Mille Lacs county, including the southern half of the lake, was established in 1857.

High skirts and low necked sleeves are attracting the attention of the mosquito, according to the Stillwater Gazette. The weather man has given them plenty of time to ruminate this year.

Local conditions in many counties will bring out the full vote at the primary election on June 19th in spite of the little interest that is now in evidence. The contest for the legislature in this county will have that tendency here.

An Ohio farmer has devised a means of fooling his hens into laying two eggs a day by means of the manipulation of a gas plant dividing the day into four parts, two darkness and two of light so alternated that the hens think they have two days and two nights every 24 hours. This beats the high cost of living but is tough on the hen.

"Independence is all right, but getting the business is what counts, and Hon. C. B. Buckman has proven that he is a business getter," remarks the Pillager Herald. Pierre, S. D., May 26.—South Dakota's 10 delegates to the republican national convention, are pledged against Roosevelt. This became known today when returns from Tuesday's primary showed Hans De Muth, avowedly anti-Roosevelt, had won over Col. Peter Norbeck, republican, and Orville Hitchcock, democrat, will unquestionably be the gubernatorial candidates at the fall election.

St. Paul, Minn., May 26.—Hamline students went on their annual college river excursion today, but the men bemoaned the presence of the ordinary twisted doughnut of commerce and the "ham and" of delectating lunch counters in their lunch. That was an unwritten law. But this year they revolted, and each man paid for lunch—for two—in addition to other expenses of the trip.

RELIEF COMES FOR DULUTH MAN

"Tanlac Certainly is a Wonderful Help to a Person," Says Miles Binn

Duluth, Minn., May 26.—"Tanlac certainly is a wonderful help to a person suffering with catarrh," Miles Binn, a well known resident of this city who lives at 13 North Thirty-ninth avenue west, said a few days ago.

"I suffered with catarrh of the stomach," he continued. "I had pains in my stomach and a bad taste in my mouth. In the mornings I'd have severe coughing spells.

"I have gained in weight since I started taking Tanlac. The pains in my stomach have completely disappeared. The coughing also is a thing of the past. I have found Tanlac to be a wonderful help for people suffering with catarrh."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, and the like and is fine for relieving the after effects of hard coughs, colds, laryngitis, pneumonia and the like.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Brainerd at Johnson's Pharmacy.—Advtd.

CIVIC BODIES FAVOR DEFENSE

Referendum Vote Shows Overwhelming Majority.

ENTIRE COUNTRY IS POLLED

Only Eight of Nearly One Thousand Commercial Organizations Go on Record as Opposed to General Question of Preparedness.

Washington, May 26.—Advanced preparedness steps, including universal military training, a building program that will restore the nation to second place among the world's naval powers and an army increase that will meet the recommendations of the general staff, have been endorsed by overwhelming majorities in a referendum just completed among commercial organizations throughout the country holding membership in the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The referendum, which officials of the chamber declared had furnished the first authoritative index to preparedness sentiment among business men, brought out the largest vote yet recorded in the series of canvasses made by the organization on public questions. Member bodies in forty-three states and Alaska, the Philippines and Hawaii participated.

On the broad question of "general preparedness" 970 organizations voted favorably and only eight negatives.

Favors Council of Defense.

The vote for universal military training was 889 to 56. The navy increases proposed in the query submitted were endorsed, 952 to 19, and the army increases 946 to 21.

Proposal to create a council of national defense to aid in developing the army and navy along the lines of a continuous policy and to act in an advisory capacity with the president and congress was endorsed, 912 to 46.

A correlative proposal for a staff of industrial mobilization to aid the defense council by insuring effective availability of the nation's economic resources was given 925 favorable votes to 47 against it.

Creation of a general staff of the navy was endorsed, 946 to 19, while 960 votes were endorsed in favor of additional officers of the regular army and an officers' reserve corps and only 9 against.

Under another plan, endorsed 940 to 26, the purchase price of munitions in war time would be fixed by a pre-arranged agreement between manufacturers and the government.

In announcing the result officials of the chamber said they would consider themselves bound by it to work for a national defense system framed along the lines indicated.

PEACE PROSPECTS PLEASING

Wilson's Speech Given Prominence in German Papers.

Berlin, May 26.—A wireless dispatch from the United States giving the substance of President Wilson's speech in Charlotte, N. C., in which he referred to the possibility of American mediation in the war, is given the place of honor in the morning papers.

Though definitely stated nowhere there is little doubt Germany is willing to consider a tender of good offices to inaugurate peace negotiations.

The former attitude in the highest quarters that America had disqualified herself as a peace mediator on account of her shipments of munitions to the allies has now changed.

If President Wilson can hold out any tangible possibilities that peace may result through his mediation Germany undoubtedly will be willing to consider such suggestions as he may offer.

NAVAL MILITIA GOES ON CRUISE

Duluth Students Hear a Stirring Address Urging them to Enlist and Enjoy Privileges

BRAINERD WANT NAVAL MILITIA

Will Perfect Organization and Present the Matter to Brainerd Citizens For Their Action

As outlined in the Dispatch yesterday a movement is to be made in this city for the establishment of a naval militia and at an impromptu meeting of the committee to which the matter was referred a committee consisting of Paul Clarkson, R. R. Wise and Fred S. Parker was appointed and they will have active charge of sounding the sentiment of Brainerd citizens and soliciting the support of the people in securing this enterprise which will mean much to the city and this section of the state. Mr. Clarkson outlined briefly the objects and the detail matter in connection with the establishment, similar to the statement made at the Chamber meeting on Wednesday and which has already been given publicity.

In this connection the following from the Duluth Herald will be of interest at this time showing what is doing in other cities in regard to naval militia:

Two hundred Central high school students, eager for a taste of adventure, yesterday afternoon listened to a stirring and patriotic talk from Lawrence K. Duby, member of the Second division of the Minnesota naval militia, urging them to enlist at the local station for active work, during the term of enlistment. Between fifteen and twenty students have decided to enlist.

Throughout the day the school was flooded with posters urging the young men who wished to enjoy the unusual combination of "seeing the world", earning money and spending a pleasant vacation to report to the assembly room following the close of school. Here Mr. Duby told his plan to the boys. He interestingly explained the system of weekly drills, of work on the local training ships and of the annual cruises. He also impressed on the young men the advantages that could be gained from enlistment in the naval militia, and of how the summer vacation could be profitably spent.

He urged the boys to enlist tomorrow night at the armory, so that they could begin active training for the cruises and other work during the summer. The local militia will leave Duluth on July 15 and will be stationed on the U. S. S. Rhode Island, now quartered in the Philadelphia navy yards.

A regular semi-monthly cruise will be taken by the naval militia, in preparation for the Atlantic cruise which will be held on reserve battle-ships from July 15 to 25. The first local cruise was held last Saturday night and Sunday aboard the Gopher along the north shore.

The program for summer cruises of the naval militia of 17 states and the District of Columbia, as announced yesterday by Secretary Daniels, will be as follows: The Alabama, at the Philadelphia yard, for the District of Columbia, First and Second Michigan battalions and Second battalion of Pennsylvania militia, and the South Carolina militia; the Rhode Island, the Philadelphia yard, for the Minnesota, Missouri, First and Second Ohio battalions and the First Pennsylvania battalion.

The naval militia at the Head of the Lakes will be allowed 350 men on the Atlantic cruise, according to Clyde W. Kelly, lieutenant commander. Members of the militia will board a train for Philadelphia, where they will join the Rhode Island and begin their 10-day trip.

BRAINERD'S OLDEST STORY OF TODAY

"Returning prosperity is reflected in many ways," observed a local merchant.
"Cupid seems to get busy when prosperous times appear."
One of our young ladies, recently leaving us, is about to add that indescribable happiness to a young man's life and, much to my regret, I can count four of those matchless precious diamonds possessed by four young ladies in our employ which tell the old story.
"Really," he continued, "I think it is a decided compliment to me to be able to select this type of young women."

PROBLEMS OF THE HIGH SCHOOL

THE STATE REQUIREMENTS

Added Departments Means Additional Rooms to Comply With Regulations

At the Chamber of Commerce regular meeting Wednesday evening, Prof. W. C. Cobb, superintendent of the city schools, discussed "High School Problems," his general subject being the material and financial aspects of the school problem, state and local.

Minnesota has an enormous school fund of $250,000,000 and it is growing all the time. It resulted in greater state assistance to schools and consequently greater state supervision and control.

In the earlier days local school affairs were almost under the dictation of local affairs, but now the state required as one of the conditions of recognized state assistance conformity to standard requirements as to buildings, light, heat, ventilation, size of class rooms, qualifications as to teachers employed and even goes so far as to determine the minimum salaries that may be paid in all departments, grade and high school.

The growth of industrial departments in schools throughout the country in general and Minnesota in particular necessitated doubling the capacity of the high school buildings in order to meet the state requirements in this respect. Three rooms are expected for a modern state aided home economics department. Three good rooms are required for manual training and at least two rooms for agriculture. Two are needed for the commercial department and two for normal training.

In 1910 Brainerd had 168 students in the high school and all rooms in the high school building seemed to be comfortably occupied. In the present year the high school enrollment is 325, with a reasonable prospect of 350 for next year. Even with that, the average ratio of high school attendance to grades for the state at large will not have been reached, the ratio being 1 to 4%, which, if the high school enrollment be normal in Brainerd today would be 375.

However, Brainerd is not the only city that is worried over additional quarters for high school purposes. The large number of towns whose high school buildings were built at an earlier day are facing the same problem and the state has shown no disposition to be arbitrary or unreasonable with a town doing all it can do.

In the matter of the student enrollment the public schools in Brainerd ranks sixth in the state, having a considerably larger public school enrollment than Crookston, Moorhead, Bemidji, Mankato, Albert Lea, Fairbault, Fergus Falls, St. Cloud, Little Falls or Cloquet.

Our tax rate in mills is about the state average for 221 state high schools. The average cost of education in Brainerd at the present time runs about $32 per child per year, or about $28 per child in the grades to $40 in the high school. The normal training is $80 per student, paid entirely by the state.

Minnesota spent over $19,000,000 on its public schools of which about $2,500,000 was in state apportionment funds and $1,500,000 in special appropriations by the legislature.

Minnesota ranks sixteenth of the states in the union in its generosity towards the support of schools, but in the matter of direct appropriations by the legislature for special aid for special purposes it ranks first.

The school fund of Minnesota, perhaps the largest of that of any state in the union unless it be South Dakota, has possibilities of almost unlimited growth on account of the state leases on iron ore lands, there being 750 tracts variously estimated to contain on an average of 1,000,000 tons to the forty, which at 25¢ a ton when sold would amount to $187,000,000. These are only estimates, but indicate the tremendous possibilities of this state along educational lines.

In addition to this the state owns school lands of 2,500,000 acres and swamp lands of 1,500,000 acres.

Brainerd will soon be facing the building proposition for high school purposes if she wishes to continue the various industrial departments heretofore installed and which are generally considered as among the most profitable features of high school work, and because of the limited class rooms it will be practically impossible to add more high school teachers to the high school force until additional class rooms are provided. The state requirement is one teach-

"Asia Minor" a Puzzle.
"Asia Minor" is a geographical term of vague extension. It would puzzle any one to say exactly where it leaves off. The name dates only from the fifth century (A. D.), when Orosius used it evidently as a novelty. The Roman empire knew no Asia Minor. Indeed, the Roman province of "Asia" was actually smaller than this lesser Asia. The alternative name Anatolia (land of the sunrise or east), which has found favor with the Turks, is equally indeterminate.—London Spectator.

Brandeis Vote Postponed.

Washington, May 26.—By unanimous consent action on the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis to the supreme court was postponed by the senate at its executive session. With the understanding that opposition senators soon would reach a decision, and with the hope that the brief postponement might result in an immediate vote on confirmation without debate, either in executive or open session, friends of Mr. Brandeis consented to the matter going over.

Rough on the Surgeon.

In the ancient life of Mesopotamia the surgeon failed to occupy the exalted position accorded him in the present age, and to discourage him from making rash operations severe penalties were fixed in case of unsuccessful ones. If the patient died the surgeon's hands were cut off. In the case of a slave he had to replace him with one of equal value. If the slave's eye was lost he had to pay half the value of the slave. If a veterinary surgeon were successful he received one-sixth of a shekel, but if the animal died he had to pay one-sixth of its value.

THE YUKON A MIGHTY RIVER.

This Wonderful Stream Is Navigable For Some 2,500 Miles.

Describing the great Yukon river, Harry A. Auer in his book, “Camp Fires in the Yukon,” says:

The northwest angle of the western hemisphere stretches into the Pacific ocean toward Asia, forming the United States territory of Alaska, well termed a nation's treasure house. Separated from Alaska on the east by only the imaginary boundary of the one hundred and forty-first meridian of longitude lies a land of romance and somewhat of mystery—the Yukon.

Within this Yukon territory there flows a remarkable and mighty stream, the Yukon river, which not only furnishes the name to this domain, but with its tributary streams, constitutes practically the only artery of commerce, development and civilization within the territorial boundaries.

Rising within fifteen miles of the Pacific ocean at Dyea inlet, on the southern boundary of the country, the Yukon tears and rips its irresistible way north by west about 1,000 miles, where it crosses the arctic circle and, turning westward, flows more than 1,200 miles through the middle of Alaska until it loses itself in the icy waters of the Pacific.

Peculiar among rivers is the extent of its navigability, for steamboat navigation begins at Lake Bennett, not quite forty miles north of Dyea pass, where rise the streams that feed the waters of the lake. From the head of navigation—and I refer to steamboat navigation—to the outlet of the river in Bering sea the distance is approximately 2,500 miles, over which large size steamers operate all summer, excepting three and a half miles at the canyon and rapids, where the steamboats could run downstream, but by reason of the currents it would be impossible to get them upstream.

And this navigability over so much of its course seems to be characteristic not only of the main artery of the Yukon, but holds as to its tributary streams, as the Tahkine, the Teslin, the Pelly, Stewart, Tanana, Koyukuk, Porcupine and the White rivers are navigable for very considerable distances by the large flat bottomed steamboats of the Mississippi type.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for “Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound,” you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease. •

The Strange Case of Mary Page

The Great McClure Mystery Story, Written by FREDERICK LEWIS, in Collaboration With JOHN T. MINTYRE, Author of the Ashton Kirk Detective Stories

“What did the man do?”

“He waited till she was gone, then he went on down the street and round the corner. Then I saw Denny coming up the other way and I went to meet him, and I found he'd been watchin' too. That was why I couldn't see him when I came to the gate.”

“That is all, thank you, Miss O'Neill,” said Langdon; but the Judge leaned forward with an arresting gesture.

“And having seen all this,” he said harshly, “didn't you read the papers the next morning? Didn't you see that a girl was missing, or connect her in any way with the occurrences you had witnessed?”

“Well, I ain't sayin' but what I had my suspicions,” she admitted readily.

“Then why didn't you tell someone?”

“Iuh!” she retorted. “And let that odd child of a Mrs. Watson know I was meetin' Denny and maybe givin' him a bite, and lose me job? I guess not!”

“Then why,” persisted his Honor, “have you told now?”

“Sure, and it's me that's been married this week, yer Honor, and I'm after havin' Mrs. Watson last Saturday,” she said amid a stifled gasp of mirth from spectators and jury alike.

Even the prosecutor smiled, waiting his right to cross examine, for the moment at least; and Langdon, with a cheery and encouraging nod towards Mary, called the second of his three new witnesses:

“Dennis Gallagher.”

Denny, whose collar seemed to have shrunk to even more torturing tightness during the interim of waiting, took his place on the stand with a face the hue of his fiancée's bonnet, and cleared his throat noisily between each sentence as if the linen band about his neck were somehow pressing his vocal chords.

He was, he admitted, a private watchman who had most of the block near the Hotel Republic, and he usually paid a visit to the back gate of the Watson boarding-house once or twice during the course of his rounds.

He verified all that the buxom cook had already told, since he himself had watched proceedings from a dark corner a little further along the alley, but his account was amplified and more definite as to detail.

“Did you,” asked Langdon, “know who resided in the house into which the girl was lifted by means of the rope swing?”

“I did, sor,” he answered. “It was Barker's, the gambler's place, you know, sor. They kept it dark in the back and in the front, but it was bright enough inside, begorra.”

“Were you watchman for that building?”

“No, sor. They had their own man to keep an eye out for the bulls, but it was that very night they were pulled. Tim, the policeman at the corner, had wised me up to it only an hour before.

“Stick around, Denny,” says he, “there'll be big dol's soon. They're goin' to raid Barker's,” sez he, “and I'll bet we pull a few big bugs, or my name is mud.”

“So I was kind of hangin' around waitin' when I see this other fellow posted in the alley. First off, I sez, he's a plain clothes man. Then I looks at his feet and I says nix, he's a gumshoe crook, and then the girl comes down the fire escape.”

“When the girl had disappeared into Barker's, what did you do?”

“I joined Katie and says to her, said I, ‘It's goin' to be a big night, and that girl has jumped out of the fryin' pan into ‘de fire.’ And begorra, sor, I'd no more than said it, then I heard the signal blow and saw the bluecoats march in' up the alley and across the street at the end surroundin' the place. ‘Good night to Barker's,’ says I; and we watched ‘em batter in the door and march up stairs. It was then that I felt the other man tuggin' at me arin’.”

“The other man?” It was more an exclamation than a question and Dennis nodded.

“Sure the feller that had been standin' some place in the shadows. ‘Wot are the perlice after?’ he says all hoarse like. ‘Who are they lookin' fer—the girl?’ ‘Not on your life,’ says I, ‘they're raidin' Barker's.’ Barker's says he, as if he'd never heard of the place. I—I—thought the trouble was in the hotel. I—I—heard a shot.”

“Then,” says I, ‘you've got one on me, fer with all these auttomobiles hangin' about the man that kin tell a bullet from a tire has some ears.’ ‘You're right,’ says he, ‘It was probably a tire. And he laughs; then he slunk away, as if he didn't like the perlice even if they weren't doin' anything but raid a gambler's joint.”

“No. He was kind of fattish, and short. He looked like the sort of a feller that hits ‘em up considerable, but I didn't take particular notice, sor.”

“Did you and Miss O'Neill remain in the alley after he had gone?”

“Yes, fer the police had run up the shades and we could see right into Barker's place. Then I seen the girl again.”

“Do you mean Miss Page?”

“Yes, sor; leastwise, I suppose it was her. She was standin' with her hands over her face, and one of the policemen jerks ‘em down and turns to another one and says, says he, ‘Is this the girl?’ I could hear plain even down in the street, but the other bull seemed puzzled. ‘It looks like it might be,’ he says, ‘especially the glad rags, but she ain't got Maggie's ear marks.’ Then he grabs the girl by the arm and says, ‘Wot's your name?’ But she didn't answer, just moans, and at that he laughs and says, ‘Playin' dumb, eh? Same old game. Now I'm dead sure you are Maggie Hale that bums around the restaurants and hooks the suckers. Well, if you won't talk to us, you can tell it to the judge.’ And with that he marches her away where we couldn't see her.”

“Just a minute, Mr. Gallagher,” interrupted Langdon. “Let's return to that fattish man in the alley. Did he come up the street with the police?”

“No, sor. He was alongside of me by that time.”

“Then he came from the other end of the street?”

Dennis scratched his head.

“Not as I seen, sor,” he admitted.

“Would you have seen him had he come from the corner beyond the Hotel Republic?” Langdon's voice was vibrant with eager excitement and the spirit of it swept through the courtroom in a shivering whisper.

“Yes, I'd seen anybody comin' from either end of the street. I alius could when I stood at the gate with Katie, fer there's a big are light they have to pass under and you can see them plain as plain.”

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be but a little while until the roses begin to appear in the cheeks. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation. Try it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.
